To whom it may concern,

I am very pleased to write this recommendation letter on behalf of Tyler Byrne. Tyler has worked as an Information Technology Classroom Technician under my supervision for the past two quarters.

During this period Tyler has very quickly made a large impact on our team and has been essential in our success. Tyler has been an extremely reliable worker throughout his time at this position. His ability to solve issues that arise and to learn how to adapt to new environments and issues is impressive. Tyler has excelled at this position through his skills in troubleshooting and his outstanding ability to work both independently and in a team. He has shown excellent communication skills as he is able to clearly and effectively communicate with many professors. He manages to leave very positive impressions on them, to the point where professors have specifically asked for him to assist them with technology in their class. He has managed to pick up on many details needed to effectively troubleshoot and has quickly become accustomed to the many different technologies he has had to deal with. He has continuously shown he is capable of taking on new challenges.

I wholeheartedly recommend Tyler for this position. I am confident he will be an invaluable addition to your team.

Sincerely,

Matthew Yetnikoff
